Co-operative Party Experience

I have been an active member of the Co-operative Party for the past year and a half, working through the Greater Manchester branch to advance co-operative values and principles in our local community and beyond.

My experience has deepened my understanding of how the seven co-operative principles can drive positive change in our communities. From voluntary membership to concern for community, I have seen firsthand how these values create stronger, more inclusive political movements.

This foundation of active participation and grassroots engagement has prepared me to contribute meaningfully to the National Executive Committee's work in advancing the Co-operative Party's mission across England North.
